Not an April Fool's Joke

President Trump in his address has said:

"It's very unfair. India charges us auto tariffs higher than 100%. This is happening by friend and foe. This system is not fair to the United States and never was.

And so on April 2, I wanted to make it April 1, but I didn't want to be accused of April Fool's day. April 2, reciprocal tariffs kick in."

"The unbridled exercise of the power to arrest without a warrant can result in arbitrariness and errors in decision making process. The arrest is to be made on the formulation of the opinion by the Commissioner, which is to be duly recorded in the reasons to believe."

Secondment of employees to Indian subsidiary does not create a PE

The Delhi High Court ruled that in a case where there was no evidence that the seconded employees were engaged in activities contributing to foreign principal's

INDIRECT TAX - GOODS AND SERVICES TAX

Supreme Court upholds validity of arrest provisions under GST

The Hon'ble Supreme Court of India, in the case of Radhika Agarwal v. Union of India, has reinforced legal safeguards to ensure that customs and GST officers do not misuse their arrest powers. The judgment can be summarized as follows:

a. The Supreme Court ruled that customs officers are not police officers as they lack investigative powers under the Criminal Procedure Code (CrPC) and primarily focus on tax enforcement rather than criminal law enforcement.

b. The Court further held that a Magistrate can authorize the detention of a person arrested under the Customs Act in customs custody. However, such detention must comply with Section 167(2) of the CrPC, which provides safeguards against detention beyond 24 hours.

c. Customs officers are required to maintain detailed records of all proceedings related to arrests and investigations. These records must include the name of the informant, the name of the accused, the nature of the information received, the time of arrest, seizure details, and statements recorded during the investigation. This requirement ensures transparency and accountability in enforcement actions.

d. The Court reaffirmed that the grounds of arrest must be provided by the customs officer to the arrestee, as mandated by Article 22(1) of the Constitution and Section 50 of the CrPC. This principle was also upheld in the recent ruling in Arvind Kejriwal v. Directorate of Enforcement.

e. The Court clarified that the GST Act is not a complete code for search, seizure, and arrest. In situations where the GST Act does not explicitly provide procedural guidance, the provisions of the CrPC will apply.

f. Certain key conditions must be met before an arrest is made. Material evidence must be available before taking an individual into custody. The reasons for arrest must be recorded in writing, and the arrest should be based on admissible evidence rather than mere suspicion. Additionally, the arrested person must be informed of the grounds for arrest immediately.

g. Under Section 104(1) of the Customs Act, customs officers have the power to arrest individuals for specific offences. However, arrests must be based on reasonable belief supported by evidence, and mere suspicion is not sufficient. The classification of offences into bailable and non-bailable, as well as cognizable and non-cognizable, must be carefully considered before making an arrest. Similar conditions apply to arrests under Section 69 of the GST Act.

h. The Supreme Court reaffirmed the rights of arrested individuals, which include the right to be informed of the grounds of arrest under Article 22(1) of the Constitution and Section 50 of the CrPC, the right to consult a lawyer (though not throughout interrogation), the right to inform a relative or friend of the arrest under Section 50A of the CrPC, and the right to reasonable care for health and safety in custody under Section 55A of the CrPC.

i. The Court emphasized that arrests should not be used as a tool of coercion or harassment. Any threat of arrest for tax recovery purposes is illegal, and judicial review remains available to challenge unlawful or arbitrary arrests.

j. The Court also held that it is not necessary for assessment to be completed, for purpose of arrest.

[Radhika Agarwal v. Union of India & Ors. - 2025 (2) TMI 1162 – Supreme Court (LB)]

Gujarat HC holds assignment of leasehold rights to third party-assignee constitutes transfer of interest in immovable property, not a supply of service.

In this case, GIDC had allotted a plot of land to the lessee who constructed a building and further assigned leasehold rights of the land along with building to third-party assignee. The issue for determination was whether the assignment of leasehold rights of the land along with building by the lessee to a third-party assignee is a transaction of sale or supply of goods or services under GST.

The High Court held that in the first transaction i.e. when the GIDC allots plot of land along with right to occupy, right to construct, right to possess on long term lease basis, it is a supply of service as right of ownership of land remains with GIDC and will revert back on expiry of the lease period. However, in second transaction, transfer/ assignment of leasehold rights of land and building by the lessee in favour of assignee, divests lessee of all the absolute rights in the property. The HC relied on definition of 'immovable property' under General Clauses Act, Registration Act etc. and observed that leasehold rights is nothing but benefits arising out of immovable property and assignment of such leasehold rights effectively amounts to transfer of "immovable property", hence outside the purview of GST.

Following this decision, the Gujarat HC in M/S. Kabir Instrument and Technology v. Union of India & Ors. [2025 (1) TMI 1307, pronounced on January 22, 2025] also quashed Show Cause Notice involving similar issue.

Kerala HC validates cross-empowerment; holds SGST/UTGST officers as 'proper officers' under CGST Act

On reference being made by a single judge in a Writ petition, the High Court of Kerala has held that officers of State GST department have jurisdiction as proper officers to issue Show Cause Notices under Section 74 of CGST Act. Referring to Section 6(1) of the CGST Act, the High Court observed that the legislature inherently allows for cross-empowerment of State and Union Territory GST officers and absence of a notification does not negate jurisdiction of SGST/UTGST officers to act under CGST Act unless specific conditions are imposed by such notification. The High Court dismissed the writ petition.

[Pinnacle Vehicles and Services Private Limited vs The Joint Commissioner (Intelligence and Enforcement) & Ors (TS-23-HC(KER)-2025-GST); pronounced on January 15, 2025]

Kerala High Court rules that issuing of a common Show-Cause Notice for multiple years is in violation of principles of natural justice

The Hon'ble Kerala High Court recently dismissed a Writ appeal filed by the revenue department and upheld the single judge's Order, directing the department to issue separate orders for separate assessment years. The HC held that issuing a common notice for multiple assessment years restricts an assessee's right and ability to respond effectively to contentions for all the years covered in the notice, since time limit for adjudication of the notice under Section 74(10) is determined on the basis of the earliest year for which the notice has been issued. In the present case, a common show cause notice was issued for financial years 2017-18 to 2023-24. The HC observed that if the limitation period under Section 74(10) is about to expire only for the earliest year in the consolidated notice, the assessee should not be forced to follow the same deadline for all subsequent years. Doing so would be in violation of principles of natural justice by denying assessee adequate opportunity to cross examine witnesses or adduce evidence for other years.

[Joint Commissioner (Intelligence & Enforcement) v. M/S. Lakshmi Mobile Accessories (TS-94-HC(KER)-2025-GST) pronounced on February 05, 2025]

High Courts cannot condone delay in filing appeal beyond time limit prescribed under CGST Act.

The Delhi High Court dismissed a batch of writ petitions challenging the Appellate Authority's decision, to reject the petitioners' appeals as time-barred under Sections 107 of the CGST Act. The HC held that when a statute itself creates a special and independent regime with respect to limitation for filing appeals, general provisions of Limitation Act will not apply.

Karnataka HC holds that providing Set Top Boxes to subscribers amounted to 'transfer of right to use goods for a consideration'; confirms levy of VAT on sale of STBs

Karnataka HC dismissed a batch of writ petitions filed by a group of digital cable service providers and held that providing set-top boxes (STBs) to subscribers for a consideration constitutes a taxable sale under the Karnataka Value Added Tax Act, 2003 (KVAT Act). The petitioner companies installed set top boxes at premises of subscribers and collected subscription fees on which service tax was being paid. The HC observed that STBs are tangible movable property that enable access to cable services and will qualify as “goods” under the KVAT Act. Further, the HC relied on decision of Bharti Telemedia where it was held that the cost of STB is included in the activation charges/ subscription charges and observed that the transfer of right to use the STBs is for a consideration, thus leviable to sales tax.

CESTAT rules that proper officer must issue speaking order, where it seeks to revise the self-assessment by the importer

The CESTAT in an appeal held that insistence by the proper officer for adoption of a particular classification, is inappropriate, and contrary to the provisions of self-assessment and reassessment under Section 17 of Customs Act, 1962. CESTAT held the original order re-classifying the goods solely based on the classification proposed by the investigating agency, lacks legality as the proper officer did not pass a speaking order. CESTAT further held that it is mandatory for the proper officer pass a speaking order when it seeks to revise the importer's classification.

Delhi High Court quashes IGST levy on re-import of goods sent abroad for repair and re-conditioning

The Delhi High Court, in a case involving re-import of aircraft and its parts, that had been sent abroad for repairs, held that as the IGST had already been discharged on the value of repairs, the Customs Department's attempt to levy IGST a second time—once by treating the transaction as an import of services and again as an import of goods was unjustified.

The Court held that a transaction cannot simultaneously be classified as both an import of services and an import of goods. It further ruled that the Department's attempt to recharacterize the supply or import of services as the supply of imported goods was unconstitutional. Additionally, the Court declared Notification No. 36/2021 unconstitutional to the extent that it seeks to impose an additional levy beyond the IGST under Section 5(1) by inserting the words "...tax and cess".
